2023 INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wichita State men, McKendree women return to winner's circle at 2023 ITC

The Wichita State men and McKendree women captured wins at the 2023 Intercollegiate Team Championships in Las Vegas.

The men's final was a bout between Wichita State and St. Ambrose, the same teams who battled for the title two years ago. Wichita State won the 2021 contest to collect its 12th men's national title.

St. Ambrose came into the match hoping for some payback and looking to do whatever was within its power to keep the Shockers from collecting their 13th victory.

But much to the disappointment of the St. Ambrose faithful, the Fighting Bees just never got on track. Instead, it was Wichita State that was stringing the strikes during a 3-0 sweep.

The Shockers struck on six of their first seven shots and nine times overall to take the opening game by a score of 234-199 and cruised to a 211-152 victory in Game 2 to take a 2-0 lead.

The two squads were tied after six frames of Game 3, but a St. Ambrose split and open in the eighth coupled with Shocker strikes in the seventh, eighth, ninth and 10th ended the match and allowed Wichita State to secure its second ITC title in the last three seasons.

"The guys worked really hard for this day in and day out, and they were able to send the seniors out the way that they needed to be sent out, which is really cool for them," Wichita State Head Coach Rick Steelsmith said. "Our program is blessed with some of the best kids in the country, and I'm just so proud of them all."

Paige Wagner, AJ Wolstenholme earn wins at 2023 ISC

Wichita State's Paige Wagner and Webber International's AJ Wolstenholme claimed victories at the 2023 Intercollegiate Singles Championships.

In the women's singles title tilt, Wagner beat Maryville's Anna Maxwell, 211-203, to win the ISC crown.

Wagner seized control of the title match from the word go, starting with a four bagger and striking on six of her first seven shots to establish a 42-pin lead through seven frames.

Things got a bit dicey from there, however, as Wagner left a pocket 7-10 split in the eighth and chopped a 4-7 in the ninth to give Maxwell new life.

The Maryville sophomore struck in the eighth frame, but a 10 pin and spare in the ninth lowered her max score to 203.

Wagner sat at 192 through nine frames, meaning that a mark of any kind and two pins in the 10th would get her the victory. She left a 4 pin on her first delivery and converted the spare, and a nine count on her fill ball allowed her to officially secure the 2023 ISC title.

When asked to describe how it felt to be a national champion, Wagner could only come up with one word.

The Wichita State team included Ryan Barnes, Brandon Bonta, Brandon Caruso, David Hayes, Alec Keplinger, Spencer Robarge, T.J. Rock and Nick Sommer.

Keplinger was named the most valuable player in the men's division. He was joined on the all-tournament team by Tyler Betz of Tennessee Southern, St. Ambrose's Cameron Crowe, Wisconsin-Whitewater's Garrett Meadows and Michael Nape Jr. from St. Francis-Illinois.

In the women's title match, McKendree took advantage of a late Maryville open to take Game 1 by a final score of 205-201.

The momentum then shifted in Maryville's direction during the next two games, securing victories of 232-220 and 225-171 to put the Saints up 2-1.

McKendree responded, starting Game 4 with a four bagger on the way to a 234-180 victory that evened the match at 2-2.

Both teams came out strong during the finale with McKendree starting with another four bagger and Maryville responding with spare-four bagger of its own.

Disaster struck the Saints in the sixth frame, however, as they were unable to convert a 10 pin.

The Saints bounced back strong with a strike in the seventh frame, but they were only able to muster spares during frames eight and nine.

McKendree spared in the seventh and eighth, but fourth bowler Rebecca Hagerman delivered a crucial strike in the ninth.

That put the Bearcats in position to win. If anchor Hope Gramly could go strike-seven in the 10th frame, McKendree would be national champions once again. Gramly calmly stepped up and delivered a flush strike on her first delivery.

Needing seven pins to officially secure the title, Gramly hit the pocket again in the 11th, toppling nine pins to officially give McKendree its second ITC crown – the Bearcats won their first in 2017.

"I've been in lots of close Baker matches that have come down to me needing to really execute my best shot, so it wasn't a situation that I was new to," Gramly said. "Still, I was nervous. My legs were shaking, but I knew that if I did my job and hit my line, my ball would take care of the rest."

McKendree's team featured Isabel Allen, Keyla Covarrubias, Angelique Dalesandro, Gramly, Rebecca Hagerman, Maranda Pattison, Kayla Smith and Anna Warkel.

Gramly was named the most valuable player on the women's side and was joined on the all-tournament team by Allen, Wichita State's Juliana Botero, Maryville's Natalie Heltne and Lauren Tomaszewski of North Carolina A&T.

Austin Grammar also competed on the men's show – Wolstenholme had teammates nearby and a sizable cheering section in his corner, and that was not something he took for granted.

"I was so happy to have my teammates next to me keeping me loose and supporting me when I needed them," Wolstenholme said. "It was awesome; I couldn't have done it without them."

He struck on six of his first eight shots during his semifinal match with fellow Warrior Atkins, who suffered two opens during that same stretch. That allowed Wolstenholme to cruise to a 224-173 victory and earn his place in the finals.

On the day, Wolstenholme struck 17 times in 23 chances and maintained an average of 241.5.

In the other semifinal, Luong defeated Grammar by a final score of 204-169.

Only one pin separated the pair after six frames, but Luong struck on three of his final five shots while Grammar opened the 10th to give the decision to the right-hander from Fresno State.

Considering the fact that three of the four men's finalists were from Webber International – Adam Atkins and
